The Measurement, Control and Automation Association and the companies who are its members have historically and continuously dedicated themselves to serve the interests of the public and of their industry so that the production and distribution of the products of the industry will in all respects be consistent with, and in full discharge of, this responsibility. The programs and activities of MCAA and its member companies, through the promotion of research and development and quality control and assurance, have made and will continue to make significant contributions to the betterment not only of the public interest, but also to the national defense and security of the country as well as international competitiveness.

It is our firm belief that our system of free enterprise stands as the foundation and cornerstone of our country's economic and social progress, and we are committed to the preservation of that system and its survival. Accordingly, MCAA hereby adopts the following Statement of Principles to guide its member companies in the conduct of their individual businesses, and with respect to the affairs of the Association:

1. to design, produce, distribute, and sell the products of our industry fairly, efficiently, and competently to the end that the industry and each member company will fully meet exacting customer and public interests.
2. to create new products and improve existing products in order to meet the needs of our customers and the needs of the nation as a whole for the products of our industry.
3. to present fairly the quality, performance, characteristics, and other values of our products.
4. to guard the freedom and independence of each company in our industry in the marketing and pricing of its products; and fully to support the principle that competition and the survival of the free enterprise system presupposes and requires the free, independent and competitive pricing of goods and commodities.
5. to observe the provisions of our antitrust laws, and in particular those of the Sherman Act, prohibiting any combinations, agreements, or understandings in restraint of trade, recognizing that these laws are designed to insure the freedom of each individual company in the business community on the basis of its own independent business judgment, to determine the prices at which it will sell its products as well as the terms and conditions of such sale.

6. to accept as a function and responsibility of management the education of each business and its employees with respect to the antitrust laws, and to promote an awareness of the responsibilities of each individual business, not only with respect to such laws, but with respect to its public responsibility to the community and to the nation as a whole.

MCAA itself reaffirms the following basic principles which shall govern all activities sponsored by it:

1. All activities shall be conducted pursuant to written policies and principles for the guidance of member companies and staff alike, which policies and principles, among other things, have delineated and will continue to delineate methods and procedures regarding the programs and activities of the Association, such as those relating to business development, promotion and research, as well as the collection and dissemination of statistical and management information.
2. All meetings, whether of member companies, the Board of Directors, committees or task groups, shall be held as may be required by the provisions of these ByLaws or as may be necessary for the consideration of, and for the taking of action with the respect to, its programs and activities. No other form of gathering or meeting is sanctioned or sponsored by MCAA.

Any mail ballot (whether regular or electronic) shall specify when the voting will close.

Section 13.5 Policy

Meetings are gatherings of members at which the Association's business is transacted, and represent the opportunity to legitimately further the Association's goals. Because a trade association is, by definition, a combination of competitors, MCAA meetings must be conducted to avoid even the appearance that members are taking common action which might unreasonably restrict trade. MCAA meetings are carefully structured and monitored. An agenda is prepared and circulated in advance and is carefully followed at the meeting. An MCAA staff member attends all MCAA meetings and is responsible for preparing the minutes of each meeting. There are no informal meetings of the Association or any of its committees; discussion of Association matters must never occur outside of formal meetings.

It is difficult to delineate in a set of guidelines the permissible limits of discussion at a MCAA meeting because so much is dependent upon the context in which any particular subject is raised. However, to avoid the most sensitive areas, there should never be a discussion of the following at an MCAA meeting:

1. Price or any elements of price or pricing policies, including costs;
2. Discounts, terms and conditions of sale, warranty terms, profits, market shares, sales territories, and rejection or termination of customers;
3. Identified individual company statistics, inventories, or merchandising methods;
4. Particular competitors;
5. Anything dealing with trade abuses or excluding or controlling competition.

By following these guidelines, the members can meet to transact lawful Association business for the betterment of our industry.

ARTICLE 14. DISSOLUTION

In the event that MCAA shall be dissolved, its net assets remaining after provision for the payment of all of its debts and liabilities shall be distributed to the surviving member companies or, if none, to such other organization or organizations having the same or similar purposes as MCAA as the Board of Directors shall determine.

ARTICLE 15. NOTICES

Notice required to be given by these ByLaws may be communicated in person, by mail or private carrier, by telephone, electronic mail or by any other means permitted by the Code of Virginia.

ARTICLE 16. RULES AND REGULATIONS

The Board of Directors may adopt or amend rules and regulations to carry these ByLaws into effect and to provide for the effective management of MCAA, provided that such rules or regulations shall not be inconsistent with the provisions and requirements of these ByLaws.

ARTICLE 17. AMENDMENTS

These ByLaws may be amended (1) by affirmative vote of the Manufacturer, Channel Partner or Systems Integrator members at any regular or special meeting at which a quorum is present; (2) by the affirmative vote taken by letter or electronic ballot of two-thirds (2/3) of the Manufacturer, Channel Partner or Systems Integrator membership, provided forty percent (40%) of all the Manufacturer, Channel Partner or Systems Integrator members return ballots; (3) by two-thirds (2/3) vote of the Board of Directors at a meeting at which a quorum is present. The Board of Directors shall make the determination to take action directly or recommend action by the membership, taking into account the significance of the changes proposed to be made.
